SATURDAY, 7 FEBRUARY

THE "KALOGEROS OF BIZYE"

Dimokratias Square (starting point of the event), 6 p.m.

The "Kalogeri" is an important rite that was performed in Bizye, Thrace, every Cheesefare Monday. It was first described by G. Vizyinos in 1888, in a series of articles in the newspaper Evdomas, in the form of a folklore study entitled "The Kaloyeris and the worship of Dionysus in Thrace", which caused a sensation and became widely known in European scientific circles thanks to Richard Dawkins. The roles, played by men, include the two Kalogeri (Good Old Men), the Girls, Babo (the Old Woman with her seven-month-old child), the Mountzourides (the Smudgers), the Zaptides (the Gendarmes), Kechagias (the Self-Proclaimed Leader), and others.

The following societies are participating in the revival of the event (in alphabetical order):

EVENING CARNIVAL PARADE

7:30 p.m.

A spectacular carnival journey begins at the intersection of 28th October and Fidiou streets! Carnival-goers and spectators dance together in a huge, colourful celebration that lasts until dawn in the city's streets, shops and clubs!

SUNDAY, 22 FEBRUARY

GRAND CARNIVAL PARADE

1:30 p.m.

The impressive and satirical King Carnival makes his triumphant appearance and gives the signal: Let's get started! Young and old carnival-goers flood the main streets with imagination, liveliness and crazy fun, ready to excite the thousands of spectators who will applaud, laugh and join in the fun! Colours, music, satire and smiles everywhere! The heart of the city beats loudly... because it's carnival!

Music by DJs Ilias Katerzis, Fotis Iltos, Dimitris Stavridis (Dinosaur)*

The parade ends at the large park of the A.O. Xanthi stadium, where the clubs' party continues to the sounds of DJ Tori Papadima. Ilias Meletis01 presents the parade, and is joined by Panagiotis Bardakis.

LATIN PARTY

FEX Cultural Centre, 5:30 p.m.

“THE BURNING OF TZAROS,”

CLOSING CEREMONY

Kosynthos River Bridge, 6:00 p.m.

In front of thousands of visitors, the “Tzaro” custom on the Kosynthos River is revived for the sixty-first year, after the grand carnival parade has finished. According to the inhabitants of Eastern Thrace, the “Tzaro” or “Tzaro” was a human effigy placed on top of a pile of oak branches. On the last Sunday of Carnival, it was burned in the centre of a field, square or hill, to ward off fleas in the summer. This tradition was brought to Xanthi by refugees from Samakov in Eastern Thrace and is revived every year by the inhabitants of the neighbourhood of the same name, located near the Kosynthos River bridge in the old town.

CLEAN MONDAY, 23 FEBRUARY

Municipal Unit of Stavroupoli, Stavroupoli Square, 11:00 a.m.

In collaboration with the Stavroupoli cultural society “Orpheus”, the Municipality of Xanthi is organising events in the Municipal Unit of Stavroupoli. Starting in the morning, there will be traditional music and dances performed by Christos Bartzopoulos's traditional orchestra, accompanied by free Lenten dishes and plenty of wine.

CARNIVAL CUSTOM OF THE “CAMEL”

In the village square of Stavroupoli, residents and visitors, dressed in costumes and making various sounds, will participate in a colourful and joyful parade led by a camel effigy and an adult impersonating an Arab camel driver. The custom of the camel was originally pagan in nature, performed to symbolise the residents' prayers for the fertility of the land, as it coincided with the arrival of spring and the start of agricultural work. Later, as it became associated with the Orthodox religion, which marks this day as the beginning of Lent, the custom took on a new meaning for the inhabitants, symbolising the end of the Carnival celebrations and the start of the fasting period.

“KOMNINOS CULTURAL SOCIETY,”

TRADITIONAL FEAST

Komninos settlement, time: 12:00

In the Komninos square, accompanied by Pontian lyre music and plenty of wine, residents and visitors can dance at a celebration based on local tradition. During the feast, members of the society distribute free traditional bean soup, accompanied by pickles, olives, halva and lagana, to those present. The Babis loakeimidis band will provide music for the event.

Panagiotis Bardakis will be presenting the events.
